KEYSER: Charles Shumaker, of Burlington, this county, has a fine pair of young red foxes. He dug them out of a hole on his farm and has made pets of them.

FAIRMONT: With a large force of men and seven or eight teams the work of excavation on the site of the new Fairmont hotel has been started. Samuel Polino received the contract for the excavation and is working on a yardage basis. Polino is paying his men $2.75 a day.

FAIRMONT: There is a labor famine in Fairmont. "We can place forty men on the payroll right away and keep them there indefinitely at the rate of $2 a day, could we get the men, but it is impossible to get them even at $2.25 a day." This is the official statement of the city board of affairs.

WHEELING: The lives of twenty children were imperiled and Miss Jane Dunning, a nation, was overcome by smoke and slightly burned while rescuing two of the children during a fire which destroyed a farmhouse ten miles from here. The children were being given a summer outing by the King's Daughters' Day Nursery of Wheeling.

FAIRMONT: Contagious and transmissible diseases are fewer this month in Fairmont than for many years according to the report of the city health department today, for the month of July. Only ten cases of measles were reported and although there is thought to be several mild cases of this malady that were not reported, yet this disease is well in hand and by the first of next month it is thought that all of the measles will be eliminated.

SAY WILSON CAN'T CARRY HOME STATE

Republican Leaders Base Their Calculations on Jersey Vote in 1912.

NEW YORK, August 1.—Republican politicians in New Jersey say they are confident President Wilson cannot carry his home state this fall. They base their calculations on the fact that Mr. Wilson's popular vote in New Jersey in 1912 was 55,956 less than the combined vote of the Republican and Progressive candidates for president and the belief that he is not as strong with Jerseyans now as he was then because of his handling of the Mexican situation and other administration problems.

Mr. Wilson's vote in 1912 was 178,259. Col. Roosevelt received 145,410 and William H. Taft, Republican, got a total of 88,835.

In 1910 when Mr. Wilson was elected governor of New Jersey he received 233,682 votes, or 563 less than Roosevelt and Taft together got in 1912. The figures prove conclusively, Republican and Democratic politicians say, that the Progressive vote was cast almost solidly for Mr. Wilson in 1910.

In order to carry New Jersey this year, the Republicans point out, Mr. Wilson must have a large Progressive support, and they profess to believe that everything indicates that this support will be reduced to a minimum before the November election.

The New Jersey Progressive state committee by a vote of seven to five decided on July 15 not to be bound by the action of the national Progressive committee in endorsing Charles Evans Hughes's candidacy, but this action, it is believed, will not have any far-reaching effect for the reason that committee of only twelve of the twenty-one counties in the state voted on the proposition.

The Republican leaders, who are now devoting all their attention to the various gubernatorial and senatorial contests and have not started to campaign for Hughes, say Progressives are fast returning to the party, and that the Republicans are preparing to present an almost united front. They contend that the state elections, since Mr. Wilson turned New Jersey upside down when he was elected governor, have shown the faith of the people in the Republican party. At the last election (fall of 1915) the Republicans had a plurality of 34,595 on the average vote for assemblymen at a time when there wasn't much to get excited about.

It is a foregone conclusion that H. Otto Witten, naval officer at the port of New York and ex-mayor of Jersey City, will be the Democratic candidate for governor. He was a candidate for the nomination in a three cornered fight in 1913, but President Wilson caused him to retire from the race in the interest of party harmony. It is known that Mr. Wilson went on the theory that Witten wasn't as strong as Feider, who was subsequently elected.

Republican spellbinders are preparing to talk ancient history to the voters. They will ask, it is said, why Witten can be considered the ideal Democratic candidate for governor in 1916, when the president didn't consider him the right kind of gubernatorial timber in 1913. Witten was a candidate against Wilson for the nomination for governor in 1910.

HEADACHES

Thousands of men and women suffer from headaches every day, other thousands have headaches every week or every month, and still others have headaches occasionally, but not at regular intervals. The best doctor is unable to find the cause of many of these headaches, and in most cases, knowing the cause, he does not know what will remove it, so as to give a permanent cure. All he can do is to prescribe the usual pain relievers, which give temporary relief, but the headache returns as usual, and treatment is again necessary. If you suffer from headaches, no matter what their nature, take A-K Tablets, and the result will be satisfactory in the highest degree. You can obtain them at all druggists in any quantity, 10c worth, 25c worth or more. Ask for A-K Tablets.

SICK-HEADACHES

Sick headache, the most miserable of all sicknesses, leaves its victims when A-K Tablets are taken. When you feel an attack coming on, take two tablets, and in many cases, the attack will be ended off. During an attack take one A-K Tablet every two hours. The rest and comfort which follow, can be obtained in no other way. Genuine A-K Tablets bear the K monogram. At all druggists.

TEXAS VOTERS GIVE WILSON A SEVERE BEATING

Candidates Who Opposed the President's Policies Carry off the State.

WASHINGTON, August 1.—A stinging defeat was administered to President Wilson by the voters of Texas at the recent primaries.

Such is the verdict of official Washington, now that the returns from the Lone Star state practically all in, indicate a straight out victory for the anti-Wilson men.

Wilson's Mexican policy and Wilson's foreign policy were the three chief issues in the campaign. The supporters of Wilson and his policies were beaten wherever there was opposition to them, according to reports.

Former Governor Colquitt, basing his campaign entirely on opposition to Wilson and Wilson's Mexican policy, is far in the lead for the senatorial nomination.

McLemore Opposes Wilson. Congressman-at-Large McLemore, basing his campaign on opposition to Wilson's Mexican and foreign policies, also is leading the race for the two positions of congressman-at-large.

Five Wilson Democratic congressmen went down in their effort to win renomination by hanging onto the coat tails of the president. The Democratic congressmen who failed to get renominations were Callaway, Stephens, Burgess, Smith and Davis. Callaway ran as a pro-Wilson man in this campaign by opposing all measures for adequate national defense. He and Hensley, of Missouri, were responsible for knocking battleships out of the naval bill as it passed the House. Likewise they persuaded the President to give the no-battleship bill his approval.

"Cyclone" Davis Beaten.

Davis is widely known as "Cyclone" Davis. He went down in the race along with the other pro-Wilson members. However, he ascribed a different reason for his defeat.

"Booze, boodle and big business brought about my defeat," Davis said, when he made certain there was no chance to win. "These interests prevented my name from going on the ballot as 'Cyclone' Davis. Every one in Texas knows me by that name." Davis said he had made up his mind not to run for Congress. Along with the victory of Colquitt, the victory of Congressman-at-Large McLemore was a severe jolt for Wilson.

Opens Fight on Colquitt.
The fight on Colquitt was just as bitter as that on McLemore. The administration first got behind Congressman Henry. When it saw Henry had no chance (it persuaded Senator Culbertson, who had practically decided to get out of politics because of ill health, to go back into the race. Culbertson is running either second or third, but more than 20,000 votes behind Colquitt.

An Historical Fact

Even before the days of our Puritans, extracts from the same kind of roots, herbs, and bark, now used in compounding the S.S.S. were well known and extensively used among the Indians.

Science and modern methods have only changed the Indians way of handling the materials; the essential features are still in evidence in S.S.S.—Nature's Greatest Blood Purifier, a natural sequence of the Indians favorite medicine.

See the Anglo-Persian Rug in the Window

This beautiful Anglo-Persian Wilton Rug that lay for seven working days in front of our store, subjected to the severe test of sun and rain and by having twenty-two thousand, four hundred and forty-four people walk over it, has been returned from the Mills at Worcester, Mass., where it was thoroughly cleaned and is now in our window ready for your inspection. This rug is in first-class condition, it is not injured in the least, and everyone who saw it before the test, claim the colors in it are even prettier now. This is certainly proof enough that here is the best rug investment in all the country. This rug had more hard wear in these seven days on the sidewalk, than it would have in twenty-five years of use in the home. We have been selling these goods with a positive guarantee that this rug will give better service than any rug we know of, and this test bears us out in the statement. We are now offering this sidewalk rug to the one who gives us the best bid before Saturday, August 5. If you want to buy a rug that will last you the rest of your life, here is your chance. We will positively sell it to the highest bidder this week.
